

DIVE TRAIL

MALTA

- Qawra Reef
Popular with beginner and intermediate divers, Qawra Reef is accessible by shore and has a maximum depth of 25-metres.
- Christ the Seafarer Statue
The statue of Christ was placed on the seabed near Qawra to commemorate the visit of Pope John-Paul in 1990 – a spectacular sight underwater.
- Imperial Eagle Shipwreck
This upright shipwreck was sunk in 1999. Divers can pose for a photo as a deep sea captain behind the ship's steering wheel.
- P29 Shipwreck
The former minesweeper and patrol boat was cleaned and scuttled in 2007 to serve as a dive site and an artificial reef, which is now home to fauna and fish.
- Tug Boat Rozi
Rozi once operated in Valletta's Grand Harbour. Today she serves as an artificial reef at a depth of 36-metres.
- Ghar Lapsi Reef
The Ghar Lapsi is great for beginners and new divers who can descend and explore the reef at 15-metres in quiet and shallow waters.
- Wied Iz-Zurriq West Reef and Caves
The West Reef and Caves are home to an abundance of marine life – discover the Bell Tower Cave during this dive.
- Um El Faroud Shipwreck
Adventurous divers can fully explore this shipwreck; discover the deck, multiple cabins and take the stairs to the engine room.
- Bristol Blenheim Bomber
Dating back to WW2; this aircraft is located at a depth of 42-metres. The wings and engines are virtually intact and the aircraft quickly begins to take shape after descent.
- Delimara Point Reef
This site is great for beginner divers as the underwater reef can be explored at 9-metres.
- HMS Maori Shipwreck
Arguably Malta's most famous and historical wreck, divers of all levels can discover this WW2 destroyer at a depth between 11 and 15 meters.
- Fort St Elmo
The dive starts at 13-metres and finally drops off to a depth of 35-metres. Explore a variety of boulders and gullies.
- Coral Gardens
Situated off the main promenade in Sliema, you can find spectacular tunnels and caverns teemed with varied marine life.
- Mercanti Reef
Discover an artificial reef that leads to a sandy seabed just 15 to 20-metres off the shore.

GOZO

- MV Karwella
The 1957 German passenger ferry, which was converted locally as a tourist pleasure cruise boat, was purposely sunk in 2006 to provide an artificial reef.
- Blue Hole
Reportedly one of Jacques Cousteau's favourite dive sites, you can see Gozo's largest Groupers, Amberjacks, Barracuda and Tuna feeding here.
- Inland Sea and Tunnel
Discover the 80m Inland Sea Tunnel – some divers like to carry a torch for added light to explore the tunnel walls.
- Azure Reef
The fallen Azure Window calls to be discovered by divers; the impressive site boasts incredible rock formations, canyons and narrow passageways.
- Double Arch
This world renowned double arch is a unique dive for experienced divers.

COMINO

- Santa Marija Caves
Enjoy one of Comino's spectacular cave dives.
